

FINDING COMMON GROUND

September 11, 2006
Embassy Suites
Charleston, SC

Given the diverse views and perspectives in sexuality education, it is important to develop an understanding of the different philosophies and opinions that guide sexuality education instruction. The goal of this workshop is to give a better understanding of the varied viewpoints around sexuality education and how decision makers can come together to provide effective programs for reducing sexual risk behavior for South Carolina youth.

Targeted audience includes:

District Comprehensive Health Education Advisory Committee Members, Comprehensive Health Education Coordinators, School Health Educators, School Administrators, Community Providers and Partners

Presented by:

•David Wiley, Ph.D.

Founder of Health Advocates, LLC & Professor, Texas State University

•Darrel Lang Ed.D.

Consultant for Health Advocates, LLC

•Elissa Howard-Barr, Ph.D., CHES

Assistant Professor, University of North Florida

Topics that will be covered in this workshop include:

Strategies & approaches that research shows are effective in preventing or reducing risk behavior.

Identifying quality sexuality education programs.

South Carolina laws related to sexuality education

Examination of varying viewpoints on sexuality education.
